

TECHNICAL NOTE

FIXED PROTECTION 2016 AND INDIVIDUAL PROTECTION 2016

Scottish Widows Platform

For Professional Advisers only

From 6 April 2016, the standard lifetime allowance was reduced from £1.25 million. Whilst the Lifetime Allowance was abolished on 6 April 2024 the protections are still relevant in relation to the new Lump Sum Allowances.

The Government recognised that some individuals would have been affected by the reduction in the standard lifetime allowance, such as those who planned their pension benefits in the expectation of a higher lifetime allowance. Therefore, individuals not registered for primary and/or enhanced protection are able to apply for Fixed Protection 2016 and/or Individual Protection 2016.

Fixed Protection 2016

Fixed Protection could be applied for by individuals who do not have primary and/or enhanced protection up until 5 April 2025. It will generally only be of interest to those individuals whose pension benefits have a value in excess of the standard lifetime allowance of £1,073,100 (or who anticipate that the value of their pension benefits will exceed this by the time they are crystallised). It protects pension savings of up to £1.25 million.

Individual Protection 2016

Individual Protection 2016 will give an individual a personalised lifetime allowance of the value of their pension rights as at 5 April 2016, subject to a limit of £1.25 million.

This personalised lifetime allowance will be fixed and will not increase.

An individual with pension savings in excess of £1 million as at 5 April 2016 was eligible to elect for Individual Protection 2016, provided they do not have primary protection or Individual Protection 2014. This means that Individual Protection 2016 may be elected by an individual who has elected for enhanced protection, Fixed Protection 2012, Fixed Protection 2014 or Fixed Protection 2016.

Where an individual also has a higher lifetime allowance provided by enhanced or Fixed Protection, it will take precedence. Where enhanced or Fixed Protection is lost, an individual's lifetime allowance will revert to the Individual Protection 2016 level from the date on which enhanced or Fixed Protection is lost.

Valuation of benefits for Individual Protection 2016

Accrued benefits are valued as at 5 April 2016. In summary:

- For uncrystallised benefits under money purchase schemes, it is the value of the fund.
- For uncrystallised benefits under defined benefit schemes, it is the value of accrued pension multiplied by a factor of 20 plus any pension commencement lump sum (PCLS) (unless this is paid by commutation of the pension).
- For pre A-day pensions or annuities with no post A-Day crystallisation events the value is the pension in payment multiplied by a factor of 25. If, however, there has been a post A-Day crystallisation, the annual pension or annuity would have been attributed a value at the time of the first crystallisation event (i.e. for testing against the lifetime allowance). That value would then be adjusted to reflect changes to the standard lifetime allowance.
- For pre A-day drawdown with no post A-Day crystallisation events the value is the maximum permitted withdrawal multiplied by a factor of 25. If, however, there has been a post A-Day crystallisation, the drawdown fund would have been attributed a value at the time of the first crystallisation event (i.e. for testing against the lifetime allowance). That value would then be adjusted to reflect changes to the standard lifetime allowance.
- Benefits crystallised on or after but before 6 April 2024, will be valued at the amount tested against the lifetime allowance, adjusted to reflect changes in the standard lifetime allowance.

Transfers

Where the individual's benefits are transferred to a new scheme, Fixed Protection will only be retained where the transfer complies with the following:

- A transfer from a money purchase arrangement can only be made to another money purchase arrangement under a registered scheme or a recognised overseas pension scheme.
- A transfer from a defined benefit scheme/cash balance scheme can only be made either to:
 - A money purchase arrangement under a registered scheme or a recognised overseas pension scheme, or
 - Another cash balance scheme, but only if the transfer is made because:
 - The transferring scheme is winding up, or
 - The sponsoring employer of the transferring scheme has sold all or part of its business, and benefits are being transferred to the new employer's scheme.

Auto enrolment and Fixed Protection

Since 6 April 2023 and the announcement of the abolition of the Lifetime Allowance, individuals with Fixed protection 2016, that was awarded before 15 March 2023, have been able to contribute to their pensions without losing their fixed protection. However prior to 6 April 2023 and for individuals who had Fixed Protection awarded on or after 15 March 2023, if an employer auto-enrolled an employee into a new pension scheme, the employee will have one month to opt out of the scheme. Regulations then allow that employee to be treated as though they had never been a member of that pension scheme and Fixed Protection is retained.

Pension credits under a pension sharing order

Providing a pension credit is transferred to an existing money purchase arrangement, Fixed Protection will be retained.

If a pension credit is transferred into an existing defined benefit/cash balance scheme, it's likely that Fixed Protection would be lost under the 'relevant benefit accrual' test.

If a pension credit is transferred into a new arrangement or a pension credit is received from a non registered pension scheme, Fixed Protection will be lost.

Pension debits under a pension sharing order

The 'donor' will not lose Fixed Protection as a result of a pension debit. However if they did not have Fixed Protection awarded before 15 March 2023 they may wish to consider revoking Fixed Protection to restart contributions/benefit accrual to rebuild their pension rights after a divorce.

The amount of an individual's personalised lifetime allowance under Individual Protection 2016 may be reduced or lost altogether if the individual's rights are subject to a pension sharing order made on or after 6 April 2016. Individuals must notify HMRC of any pension debit so that their Individual Protection certificate can be amended or revoked.

Lump Sum Allowances

The Lifetime Allowance was abolished from 6 April 2024 and replaced with the Lump Sum Allowance and the Lump Sum & Death Benefit Allowance.

Lump Sum Allowance

The Lump Sum Allowance is 25% of the protected lifetime allowance of £1.25 million (£312,500) for Fixed Protection 2016 or the member's personalised lifetime allowance for Individual Protection 2016. The Lump Sum Allowance will be reduced by any previous PCLS payments or the tax-free portion of any Uncrystallised Funds Pension Lump Sum (UFPLS) payments.

Lump Sum & Death Benefit Allowance

For Fixed Protection 2016 the Lump Sum & Death Benefit Allowance is £1.25 million.

For Individual Protection 2016 it is the lower of £1.5 million or the value of benefits on 5 April 2016.

The Lump Sum & Death Benefit Allowance will be reduced by the value of any previous tax-free lump sums taken from the pension.

Key point summary

Fixed Protection 2016 was most likely to be of interest to those individuals who did not have primary and/or enhanced protection, Fixed Protection 2012 or Fixed Protection 2014, but who:

- already have pension benefits with a value exceeding the standard lifetime allowance, or
- who expect the value of their benefits to exceed the standard lifetime allowance by the time they are crystallised, or
- were, prior to 6 April 2024, utilising drawdown pensions and had concerns over the growth between crystallising and the age 75 Benefit Crystallisation Event although, this test has now been abolished, or
- want to retain a higher Lump Sum Allowance i.e. 25% of up to £1.25 million.

Individual Protection 2016 will interest anyone who:

- had pension benefits exceeding £1 million on 5 April 2016, and
- had pension benefits that exceed (or expects to exceed by the time they are crystallised) the standard lifetime allowance.
