

Logging in to Scottish Widows Platform using your Unipass Identity

Scottish Widows Platform now provides Origo's Unipass Identity Solution to enable advisers to securely and seamlessly sign-in (SSO) to the Scottish Widows Platform using their own Unipass credentials.

When you visit the platform, you can either login using your platform credentials or your Unipass identity.

When you click 'Log in with Unipass' you will be taken straight to the Unipass Login screen.

When logging in for the first time, you will need to map your Scottish Widows Platform username & password to your Unipass identity.

You may have more than one login for Scottish Widows Platform, for example, if you are also a Security User. You can only map one login to your Unipass identity so we recommend mapping the username & password you use the most.

A step by step process is outlined below to guide you through this. You can apply for your Unipass identity at www.unipass.co.uk/identity.

New to Scottish Widows Platform

Follow these steps if you have never used Scottish Widows Platform before.

- You will have received your username and a token to set up your password via email.
- Click the link to set up your password, you will then be asked to select your 5 numerical digit memorable pin.
- Once you have successfully logged in to Scottish Widows Platform, your Unipass identity will automatically be mapped to your Scottish Widows Platform login details.
- The next time you sign in, you can use the 'Log in with Unipass' button.

Existing Scottish Widows Platform user

Follow these steps if you are already using Scottish Widows Platform.

- Go to Scottish Widows Platform and login using your username, password & memorable pin as normal.
- Once you have successfully logged in to Scottish Widows Platform, your Unipass identity will automatically be mapped to your Scottish Widows Platform login details.
- The next time you sign in, you can use the 'Log in with Unipass' button.
