Your guide to trading

For use by clients only

Your dashboard

There are different entry points to trade within your account. Firstly, select Transactions from the link on the menu navigation.

You can also use the I want to quick links on the right hand drop down menu.

You will only be able to trade on your account if you have servicing permissions (these are usually set by your financial adviser).

To buy or sell investments, you can either select the Transactions icon in your navigation menu or select Trade within the I want to drop down menu on the right hand side of your dashboard.

Both options will take you to the Transactions page of your dashboard, see next page.

Trade options available to you

Quote & buy and Quote & sell are real time trading options for Exchange Traded Instruments (ETIs) for individual products.

Buy Investments, Sell Investments and Switch Investments apply to mutual funds and Exchange Traded Instruments (ETIs) for individual products. These options trade at the next available trading point for the asset, in line with our Order Execution policy.

Important things to know before trading on your account:

- When switching or selling 100% of an asset, any regular withdrawals targeting that asset will need to be changed and edited using the edit withdrawal option.
- After processing a switch, you may wish to delete and re-add any regular contributions in order to redirect future contributions to your revised assets.
