Scottish Widows Platform

Pension rights can be transferred to another pension scheme without unauthorised payments tax charges if the transfer is a recognised transfer.

Recognised transfers

A recognised pension transfer is a transfer from a UK registered pension scheme to another UK registered pension scheme, or to a qualifying recognised overseas pension scheme (QROPS).

Transfers in specie

An in specie transfer is where assets (e.g. insurance policies, shares, property) are transferred directly from one pension scheme to another. HMRC allow in specie transfers between registered pension schemes but it may not always be possible to undertake such a transfer to or from a particular scheme.

Reporting transfers

If there are any transfers from a registered pension scheme to a QROPS the scheme administrator must report these to HMRC in the annual event report form. Transfers between UK registered pension schemes do not need to be reported to HMRC in the annual event report form (but they would need to be reported in a registered pension scheme return if HMRC asked the scheme administrator to complete one).

HMRC limits

Transfers do not count towards the HMRC limits on payments into registered pension schemes, whether the member's tax relief limit or the annual allowance.

Overseas Transfer Allowance

The amount transferred out to the QROPS has to be tested against the member's Overseas Transfer allowance when the transfer is made. This does not apply to transfers between UK registered pension schemes.

Partial transfers

A partial transfer is where only a portion of the fund is transferred to a new scheme and the rest of the fund remains in the existing scheme. Partial transfers can only be made if the scheme rules allow. If your fund includes funds designated to drawdown, that portion cannot be partially transferred.

Split transfers

A split transfer happens where all of the fund is transferred out and is subsequently split across a number of different schemes. Split transfers can be made if the scheme rules allow.
